

Speaker Series: Stories from the Front Line

October 7th & 21st, November 4th & 18th

October 21 at 6 p.m.

Jack Schneider & Jennifer Berkshire

Authors of A Wolf at the Schoolhouse Door

Jennifer Berkshire writes about education and politics for the Nation, the New Republic, the Baffler, the New York Times, and other publications. The creator and co-host of the education policy podcast “Have You Heard,” she teaches aspiring podcasters in the journalism program at Boston College and the Labor Studies program at UMass Amherst. Berkshire discovered her passion for storytelling while covering a series of bitter labor battles that wracked her native

Midwest in the early 1990’s. She is the author of More Worlds to Negotiate: John Dunlop and the Art of Problem Solving. A licensed public school teacher, Berkshire lives in Gloucester, Massachusetts.

Photography: © marilyn humphries