My name is

LYLE WATLING

Div. 1 Interactions teacher, Athlone School
I would be honored to be your voice in our local level negotiations.

- o Graduate of the Negotiation and Mediation certificate from NAIT's JR Shaw School of Business;
- o Studied labor relations, contract negotiations and organizational theory in my Doctor of Healthcare Administration degree;
- o Trained in staff wellbeing with the Health Sciences Association of Alberta;
- o Studied workload assessments in earning the Leadership and School Management certification from the Harvard School of Business.
- o Spent many years advocating for teachers while serving in numerous roles with the local and provincial ATA, and;
- o Have teaching experience in all four Divisions.

My colleagues, we are entering into a new mindset in local negotiations. Many of the issues that we face daily can be addressed during local bargaining. We have shown that we are willing to step up and help our colleagues who are not being served well by our employer. My platform is to stop the constant deterioration in our working conditions. I am feisty and I will lead the charge in our negotiations to ensure that teachers have a meaningful say on matters that affect them.
